

Three Towns Neighbourhood Board Membership

The Three Towns Neighbourhood Board comprises the following members: -

Irene Campbell MP

Member of Parliament for North Ayrshire and Arran.

Joseph Cullis (Chair)

Joseph is a company director with more than 36 years' experience running a successful family business in the Three Towns area. His connection to the community runs deep, with his family having had businesses in the area since 1962. Born and raised in Stevenston and Saltcoats, Joseph has a lifelong connection to the towns, their people and their development.

Throughout his career in the amusement industry, Joseph has built extensive experience as a business owner, developing a strong understanding of entrepreneurship, commercial operations and the importance of sustaining sustainable local economies. His years in business have provided him with valuable insight into the opportunities and challenges faced by companies and communities alike.

In addition to his role as a company director, Joseph is President of Bacta, the UK's leading trade association representing the amusement industry. In the role, he works with businesses, industry stakeholders and policymakers, helping to represent the interests of the sector and promoting responsible growth.

Joseph's professional experience, combined with his strong local roots, gives him a unique perspective on the importance of collaboration, investment and creating opportunities for the future. He is passionate about using his knowledge and experience to contribute positively to the area he has called home for most of his life.

Outside of work, Joseph enjoys playing golf whenever he gets the opportunity, and most importantly, spending quality time with his wife and children.

Glenn Turner

Glenn sits on the Board as Chair of Ripple Effect Saltcoats.
